GOVERNOR'S LILAC AND WILDFLOWER COMMISSION

The purple lilac is New Hampshire's official State Flower as determined by the Legislature and signed into law in 1919. It may be seen throughout our State on private and public lands having been planted by many generations of citizens. It is believed that the first New Hampshire lilac planting was in 1750 at the Wentworth-Coolidge Mansion in Portsmouth. Beautiful and fragrant blossoms in a wide range of colors appear in May of each year. For this contest the purple lilac is of greatest interest.

The Governor's Lilac Commission was established by Governor John H. Sununu in 1984 to promote extensive planting of lilacs throughout the State. It encourages the efforts of many individuals and groups to be involved in establishing our State Flower on public lands for all to enjoy. The Governor's Lilac Commission provides plant materials and recommends cultural practices for growing lilacs to insure the best possible results.

In an effort to help beautify New Hampshire's highways, the Commission has taken on the additional responsibility of purchasing and assisting in planting wildflowers. Because of these efforts, Governor Stephen Merrill renamed the Commission on August 1, 1995.
